A renovation has expanded Ten Minutes by Tractor's dining room, which is good news for those who've struggled to get a booking at this popular restaurant. A wide-ranging wine list, combining Ten Minutes' own output with benchmark wines of the world, is part of the attraction, as is the efficient service. But it is Stuart Bell's cooking that really draws the crowd. A rabbit terrine with pencil leeks and a caraway vinaigrette, or admirably fresh Crystal Bay prawns sautéed in olive oil and thyme demonstrate a lightness of touch, while a rustic, not-too-sweet apricot relish served with beautifully handled pork demonstrates Bell's skill with comfort food. Desserts, such as ginger and walnut sponge with caramelised pears, reflect Ten Minutes' dedication to seasonal produce and make this a great place, in a gorgeous setting, to sample the Mornington Peninsula's finest.
